This IREM Chicago Industry Partner Spotlight profile features new chapter partner Atomatic Mechanical Services -- the fastest responding HVAC service provider in the Chicagoland Market with 51 highly trained service technicians! In addition, they have a large design/build construction department with PE's for large projects, sheet metal workers and pipefitters, a Building Automation Department, and residential HVAC service team.

Atomatic Mechanical was founded in 1945, and it's growth over the years is contributed is being a top performing HVAC service provider. Meaning when a building has an HVAC issue that no-one else can figure out or fix, Atomatic will handle it! What they feel sets them apart is the trust they earn from clients due to the transparent methods of how they use a team approach with Property Managers. Dan says, "We want to gain the title of "HVAC Partner", instead of "HVAC Service Provider"."

We are very excited to become IREM members! We look forward to building new relationships and meeting you all at future events!

Some might find this cheesy, but HVAC is something I'm incredibly passionate about. I started right after turning 17 years old in a two-year trade school, after I obtained a bachelors in HVAC, worked for years in the field, and now I drive around with an "HVACDAN" license plate! When you are looking for someone who is an HVAC Nerd, look no further! 😊
