According to Sabrina Rice, Marketing Manager, Energy CX helps business owners buy energy smarter, optimizing savings and efficiency for thousands of properties nationwide. Based in Chicago, they excel in energy purchasing, utility services, and sustainability solutions across 20+ states.

The Energy CX journey began five generations ago with the Rice family's unwavering commitment to energy innovation. In 2010, this legacy evolved to Energy CX, starting as a small family business but rapidly shifting into a dynamic and disruptive force in the industry. Recognized as a Top U.S. Energy Brokerage and 2024 Great Place To Work®, Energy CX is the future of energy purchasing.

Energy CX leverages data and innovation using their proprietary technology, ABEL™ (Analytics-Based Energy Logic), setting them apart from competitors. ABEL™ is named after the first Rice family member entrepreneur who lived until 1905 and is the leader of innovation across 5 generations for the Rice family.

As their customer base grows, they're proud to power iconic events like the New York Ball drop.
