Jim Wippel, CPM®

November 2022

Jim Wippel, Vice President at Sudler Property Management and our chapter's newest CPM®, has been in the condo and HOA property management business for years and was drawn to the industry initially because he says, "Property Management and Asset Management are valuable services to property owners. Globally, large urban cities have projections of population growth through 2050. This increases the demand for large, vertical multi-family properties for apartments and condos with hotel-like amenities."

Preparing for and receiving the CPM certification he feels improves his efficiency in property management services and this achievement added value to his quantitative analytical skills for commercial real estate transactions as well.

Jim really enjoys working with property owners to reach goals of improving their assets financially and physically. He also suggests to all his colleagues to continue to improve your professional skills throughout your career and attend networking opportunities.

Jim hopes to become more active with IREM Chicago chapter events and has really been enjoying the networking with our chapter members. CONGRATULATIONS JIM!
