In this IREM Chicago Industry Partner Spotlight profile get to know Kluever law Group, LLC.

Kluever Law Group, LLC maintains a well-earned reputation as being a premier provider of legal services in Chicago and throughout Illinois. We are tough, tested, skilled litigators with the nuanced insight of seasoned industry insiders gained from decades of handling the most complex litigation, contested foreclosures, consumer protection, and mortgage servicer litigation and appeals.

Our firm offers decades of experience in the following areas (among others):

- Commercial and residential foreclosures and evictions.
- Commercial and residential lease disputes.
- Construction and mechanic's lien disputes.
- Business-to-business disputes, including breach of contract and collection disputes.

Founded in 2001, Kluever Law Group, LLC has grown through strong leadership over the years. When its current owners and managing partners, Jason Altman, Blake Strautins, and Matt Kromm, took over the firm in 2020, the pandemic drastically disrupted life around us. This disruption made it essential to innovate, adapt, and strategically position the firm to prevail in an ever-changing landscape. What did not change, however, was the firm's long-standing commitment to providing high-touch legal services, focusing on timely and personal communications with its clients, and providing best-in-class legal services. Today, we remain focused on innovation and technology to drive efficient, cost-effective outcomes for our clients.

While many of our clients know Blake Strautins for his legal expertise as one of the managing partners, they may be surprised to learn about his creative side. In high school and college, Blake acted in and directed theatrical and musical productions. Before taking the stage, he was a bowling "shark" during his amateur bowling career—at just 12 years old—and he remains an avid (and competitive) bowler to this day.

We are beyond excited to be part of the IREM Chicago community and look forward to working together to drive innovation, strengthen partnerships, and provide the highest level of legal services.
